

SWIG (the Sensors for Water Interest Group) invites students and employees involved in the field of water sensor research to design a scientific poster summarising their work.

This is an opportunity for researchers within the water and environmental sectors to showcase their work. The SWIG Early Career Researcher Prize is open to under-graduates and post-graduates in full-time education or within the first 4 years of employment within their chosen area of expertise.

Posters must be submitted by 7th September 2012 and final judging of the top 3 posters will take place at WWEM 2012, with the award presented at the WWEM Gala Dinner on the 7th November. The competition rules and more details are available on the attached flyer or on the SWIG website here.

www.swig.org.uk

Or you can contact linda.smith@swig.org.uk for further information.